Using a Trauma-Informed Approach for PREA Implementation:
Resources and References

October 2015

Notice of Federal Funding and Federal Disclaimer – This project was supported by Grant No. 2010-RP-BX-K001 awarded by the Bureau of Justice Assistance. The Bureau of Justice Assistance is a component of the Office of Justice Programs, which also includes the Bureau of Justice Statistics, the National Institute of Justice, the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, the Office for Victims of Crime, and the Office of Sex Offender Sentencing, Monitoring, Apprehending, Registering, and Tracking. Points of view or opinions in this document are those of the author and do not necessarily represent the official position or policies of the U.S. Department of Justice nor those of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency (NCCD), which administers the National PREA Resource Center through a cooperative agreement with the Bureau of Justice Assistance.
Resource Guide on Implementing PREA through a Trauma-Informed Lens

This video training series was designed to provide an important foundation for understanding trauma, the implications of trauma on the behaviors of inmates while in confinement, and how correctional administrators and practitioners can use this information to support successful PREA implementation and ultimately provide a safer environment for inmates and staff. The PREA Resource Center (PRC) contracted with the National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors (NASMHPD) to develop this series.

Through research and practice, NASMHPD has found an important connection between understanding a trauma-informed approach, effectively promoting sexual safety, and successful implementation of the PREA standards. The role that trauma plays in all of our lives, including inmates and staff, has become increasingly understood. For instance, outside of corrections, the public has gained greater understanding of trauma through the many stories of veterans returning from combat and the impact of trauma on their daily lives.

In correctional settings, NASMHPD has learned much more about the impact of trauma through assessment of the pathways into criminal behavior. Past trauma is at the core of many inmates’ life experiences.

Through considering the role that past and present trauma plays in building safe – and particularly sexually safe – environments, correctional administrators and staff training directors can support staff in efforts to more fully meet a facility’s mission and make everyone safer. In presenting this material, NASMHPD recognizes that some may be hearing about a trauma-informed approach for the first time, while others may be well along the path of implementing trauma-informed policies, practices, and training programs. NASMHPD believes that the material contained in this video series will provide an opportunity for staff in confinement facilities to learn and be thoughtful about the benefits of a trauma-informed approach in correctional settings.

If participants are familiar with the concept of a trauma-informed approach and the terms used, they are encouraged to challenge themselves to review their agency’s and/or facility’s policies and practices in creating a sexually safe environment, and ask themselves if they have considered the implementation of PREA Standards fully through this lens. For agencies and facilities that are new to or early in process of using a trauma-informed approach, NASMHPD hopes these videos will provide important information, lessons learned, and insights in addressing sexual safety and PREA implementation through a trauma-informed lens.

In Module 1, Andie Moss, President of The Moss Group, Inc., will set the stage for why it is beneficial to recognize the impact of trauma in the lives of inmates and staff alike when implementing PREA.

In Module 2, participants will hear from one of the pioneers in the implementation of a trauma-informed approach. Dr. Joan Gillece has spent many years dedicated to bringing the concept of a trauma-informed approach to the fields of substance abuse, mental health, and corrections. Dr. Gillece will present on the importance of understanding what trauma is, how it is defined, and why it is important to consider when implementing PREA.

In Module 3, Dr. Brian Sims explains the neurobiological effect of trauma. Dr. Sims takes this complex material and makes the science behind trauma interesting and easily understood. Through his training, participants will better understand the serious impact that trauma can have on an individual’s behavior.

In Module 4, Andie Moss hosts a panel discussion with clinicians and practitioners from the Dorchester County Detention Center on Maryland’s Eastern Shore that responds to the concepts that Drs. Gillece and Sims have presented. Examples are provided on how to implement the PREA standards through a trauma-informed lens in adult confinement settings, but the concepts are easily transferrable to juvenile facilities.

In Module 5, clinician and trainer Ms. Alisha Salisbury, Warden Steve Mills, and PREA officer and investigator Lt. Robert Fitzgerald from the Dorchester County Detention Center on Maryland’s Eastern Shore discuss implementing a trauma-informed approach in a jail setting. The hope is that this module will provide some creative examples for policymakers and practitioners to consider as they begin or continue to implement a trauma-informed approach.

Finally, as an additional resource, NASMHPD has also provided a documentary called “Healing Neen,” which focuses on one woman’s path through trauma, the criminal justice system, and beyond.

Those who use this video training series may want to think through how they view the modules. The material is designed so that the modules can be used sequentially or viewed as stand-alone resources. This guide provides additional resources and materials to support work in this area.

WEBSITES and TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

National PREA Resource Center
http://www.prearesourcercenter.org/about/prison-rape-elimination-act-prea
- Contact us:
  http://www.prearesourcercenter.org/about/contact-us
- Request assistance:
  http://www.prearesourcercenter.org/training-technical-assistance/request-for-assistance
- Collaborating Organizations:
  http://www.prearesourcercenter.org/about/collaborating-organizations

National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors (NASMHPD)
www.nasmhpd.org
(Technical Assistance Potential)

Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)
http://www.samhsa.gov/
The National Center for Trauma Informed Care
http://www.nasmhpd.org/content/national-center-trauma-informed-care-ntic-0
(Technical Assistance Potential)
CITATIONS for Module Two: Why is it Important to Understand Trauma when implementing PREA?

CITATIONS for Module 3: Understanding the Neurobiological Effects of Trauma when Implementing PREA

PUBLICATIONS & BLOGS

Women in Solitary Confinement

Creating A Place Of Healing and Forgiveness: The Trauma-Informed Care Initiative at the Women’s Community Correctional Center of Hawaii DRAFT 2013

Creating a Trauma Informed Criminal Justice System for Women

How Being Trauma-Informed Improves Criminal Justice Responses

Toward Creating a Trauma-Informed Criminal Justice System

The Importance of Understanding Trauma-Informed Care and Self-Care for Victim Service Providers

Creating trauma-informed correctional care: a balance of goals and environment
http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC3402099/

The Importance of Understanding Trauma-Informed Care and Self-Care for Victim Service Providers

Trauma-Informed Correctional Care: Promising for Prisoners and Facilities  